

Users

Customization

User accessibility

Money Based accessibility and options

co-workers different color themes pin past events with pictures for memories follow other uses

Can be shared with more than 2 people change username per calendar group you are in

Report Option

Charging for like invitations and location teammates

change the background

repeating events calendar based dinner reservations users can view their friends schedules (if in share mode) dropdown options with followers pop-up ads

location

couples

add pictures to certain days more info button for specifics of an event the option to make it viewer only for certain calendars users can have multiple calendars

Do not disturb notification

Users can gain points if they don't cancel/follow through with plans send invitations

personal uses reaction emojis

change calendar name/username/profile picture multiple calendars can be made for different purposes have a business and personal profile make days invisible that were visible before for privacy partner with google or other businesses to promote ours and make money use points to use certain features friends/family recommend available days if schedules don't clash pin events for the future chat box between users any age group (user friendly) verified users such as ESPN who put out their game schedules, etc.

Set reminders for specific dates/ get reminders before that event partner with restaurants roommates

dropdown bar with the different calendars that they are in